Art Exhibit in Christ the King Church

Michel Guével is one of Europe's premier and most prolific stained glass artists. He comes from a long line of Breton "maitres verriers" in northwest France, where his father Job Guével spent a lifetime working in a variety of stained glass techniques. Michel Guével continued the family tradition, and trained at the Academie Julian prior to becoming one of the youngest students ever to graduate from Paris' famous L'École des Beaux-Arts. He and his father collaborated on numerous works in dozens of churches and cathedrals throughout France, and particularly in Bretagne.

We the Jim Griffin family, first met Michel by chance, when we were visiting Chartres cathedral in the late 1960s. There was an exhibit of works done by contemporary artists, and Michel had an especially beautiful piece on exhibit. We exchanged names and addresses, and from that moment on we became fast friends, and one of his windows sits in our house in Lyme. During a subsequent trip to France, we saw the circular piece that now is in Christ the King church in Michel's studio in northwest Paris, It had been exhibited in a show in Japan and recently returned to its maker. At that time, around 2005/6, the new Christ the King church was being built in Old Lyme and it seemed to us and the parish committee a good final resting place for this glorious piece of art.
